November 19, 2009

Here is what we are doing in second grade..☺

Language Arts:

Students worked on writing an original story this week. Students are also working on writing to persuade. We read the story ! Wanna Iguana by Karen Kaufman Orloff. In the story the little boy tried to persuade his mother to let him have a pet iguana. The students then wrote to persuade their parents to get them a pet.

Next week we will "read to perform a task." We will use text features to help us understand directions.

Word Study:

This week we worked on digraphs in the middle of a word. After Thanksgiving break, we will work on compound words.

Math:

This week we learned about "flip, turn and slide" with congruent shapes.

Grammar:

This week we are learning about commas in a series. After Thanksgiving break we will learn about commas in a letter.

Social Studies:

Classes are starting unit 2 in Social Studies. We will review why rules are important. We will also learn which community helpers help make laws.

Important dates:

Wednesday- Friday,
November 25-27th – No School
Thanksgiving Break

Science Fair:

- The county Science Fair is coming up. If you would like your child to enter a project please see the Online registration at <http://scienceelem.sites.fcps.org/sciencefair>.

We will be writing to our pen pals when we return from Thanksgiving. Donations of stamps would be greatly appreciated ☺!!!!!!
